With his regular team complete for the first time in four weeks, Clark Griffith led his men under the wire yesterday by a good length, beating Cleveland for the third consecutive game. Frank Farrell broke away from the festivities of Saratoga and paced the aisles of the grand-stand more pleased than if he had lapped a heavy purse with King Pepper. President Johnson, trained to the minute, not an ounce over 200 pounds, propped his delicate pedals on the seat in front, commuted with Nature and several reporters.

"Jack" Taylor, the millionaire employee of Jimmy Collins's tribe, sat near by. He left Boston to see a good game of baseball, and knew he would find one here. REPORTS received from the training quarters of Gus Ruland and Jack McCormick say that both men are in shape for their coming struggle. Out of the present, you see I've got a bit of theatrical dates for the coming season, and they must be filled. But next spring, well, I think I'll be Paris for me and mine then. You see, I can make a double job of it. The mousie can have her voice cultivated, while I can make expenses teaching the Frenchmen how to use their hands in defending themselves, instead of kicking each other on the shins. Oh, yes, I think I'll be Paris for me next year.
